History

Three cadets at the Virginia Military Institute founded Sigma Nu during the Reconstruction period after the Civil War. The system of physical abuse and hazing of underclassmen at VMI inspired James Frank Hopkins, Greenfield Quarles, and James McIlvaine Riley to form the "Legion of Honor," or Sigma Nu, a non-hazing fraternity; a radical departure from the times.

Over the past 150 years, Sigma Nu has grown into one of the largest fraternal organizations in the world. Over 230,000 men have been initiated into Sigma Nu from over 275 chapters all over the United States and Canada.

Rho Chapter was the 16th charter granted by Sigma Nu and the second fraternity at the University of Missouri-Columbia. George R. McVey came to Columbia in the first week of January 1886 with the expressed intent of forming a new chapter. In its 135-year history at the University of Missouri, Rho Chapter has never had its charter revoked, the only fraternity on campus with this distinction.

On January 26, 1886 the first five members of Rho Chapter were initiated. While the group still felt some hesitation about revealing their actions, the five charter members and McVey decided to parade down Broadway wearing the badge of the fraternity to show their commitment to Sigma Nu. Thus began Rho Chapter's glorious history.

Academics

At Sigma Nu, academic achievement is the highest priority. Our scholastic chairman assists the entire Chapter, especially new candidates, to achieve full potential by helping with selection of courses, study skills, and other academic concerns. Disciplined, daily study hours insure a smooth transition for new candidates from high school into a collegiate atmosphere. A Speed-Reading course is provided.
